Working With Children Check (WWCC) / Working With Vulnerable People Checks (WWVPC)

Legislation varies from state to state and the requirements for people working with and/or in contact with children and/or vulnerable are not always clearcut.

Children are considered as vulnerable members of society and need to be protected with all possible means.

The WWCC or WWVPC is an ongoing assessment of a person's eligibility to work or volunteer with children. It involves a check of a person's national criminal history including all spent convictions, pending and non-conviction charges, and other disciplinary and police information.

For the purposes of Preparing the Way's Cert IV, all End of Life Doulas are required to hold current WWCC/WWVPC as it applies in their home state. This will ensure that any legal requirements are met.

In most states, the Volunteer rate applies to self-employed people as well. Fees can change without notice.
